

'Bali-cious' Thai

By Windy Chan

Enjoy the quiet and relaxing ambience.

Bali Thai's famous Crispy Fish.

"We have special arrangements for children. For example, if you order the crispy whole fish with Thai sauce, we can separate the sauce so while you savour the spiciness of the dish, your children are still able to eat the delicious fried fish."

- Mr. Audie Tan, Bali Thai restaurant manager.

He wanted the finest of both worlds. Hence, founder and owner of Bali Thai Restaurant, Mr. Alan Goh decided to house two cuisines under one roof.

The 'Crispy Whole Fish with Thai Chilli Sauce', a house speciality, is extremely popular with guests. This dish is spicy yet succulently sweet.

The ingredients include garouper, chilli paste and pineapples. The chefs use lemon skin, lemon grass, plus dried and fresh red chilli blended together to make the chilli paste. All ingredients are fresh from Chiangmai.

Steamed rice goes especially well with this dish according to restaurant manager, Mr. Audie Tan.

Bali Thai is very much a family-styled restaurant. Said Mr. Tan, "We have special arrangements for children. For example, if you order the crispy whole fish with Thai sauce, we can separate the sauce so while you savour the spiciness of the dish, your children are still able to eat the delicious fried fish."

The menu is quite comprehensive and easy to read, for it does not leave you guessing where a dish is from. The Indonesian food is presented in green, while the Thai dishes are in red.

Only chefs from Indonesia and Thailand prepare these two cuisines because the management believes that the indigenous people best prepare their local food.
